LARK, 1915 FAY & BOWEN (CLASSIC)

The Birds are members of SMWYC who collectively own and maintain the Lark, which is a 22-foot 1915 Fay & Bowen motor launch, originally built in Geneva, New York for use on small lakes. The Birds brought the Lark to Marina del Rey in 1985. The straight-bow, torpedo-stern craft can be seen touring Marina del Rey opening day weekend, shuttling the SMWYC bridge from one club to another. The Birds, known by avian names, are dedicated to the preservation and use of the launch while enjoying the camaraderie and good humor of the flock.
